Introduction

National Education Policy 2020 is an important policy approved by the Government of India on 29 July 2020. The objective of this policy is to make the Indian education system prosperous, modern, and all-round. The main objective of this policy is to upgrade minimum knowledge and skill levels, promote innovation and thoughtfulness of students, enhance quality in higher education, and help create ideal citizens.

National Education Policy 2020 is a significant change in the Indian education sector which aims to reform and tweak various aspects of education. The policy focuses on different aspects of education with different education levels, education sectors and educational trends. The objective of this policy is to establish a quality and accessible education system that provides equal opportunity and access to education of the highest standard to all children.

The main insight of the National Education Policy 2020 is to facilitate an integrated education system at all levels of education. Under this, the new education policy gives priority to quality, accessible and inclusive education. It incorporates many important ideas such as giving top priority to education, comprehensive retraining in higher secondary education, giving importance to innovative education and professional education, promoting the use of education technology, developing dedicated local and comfortable structures for learners and supporting new education practices.

Under the National Education Policy 2020, priority has been given to child education and free and compulsory education will be arranged for all children from the age of 3 years to the age of 18 years. The new policy also encourages new models of education which include nature related education, cyber security, general health, education in local rural areas etc.

This new education policy endorses many important changes from the previous education policies. Some of the main propositions include:

1. 5+3+3+4 Structure: According to this policy, education is divided into 5-year primary level (age 3-8), 3-year pre primary level (age 8-11), 3-year upper primary level (age 11-14) and 4-year senior secondary level (age 14-18).
2. New Academic Norms: Norms have been reformed in the field of education. This includes better opportunities for students, standards for skill development, and encouragement for academic freedom.
3. Multilingualism and Language Teaching: Language teaching has been given an important place in the policy and multilingualism has been encouraged.
4. Film and Organized Sector Education: Education Policy 2020 proposes to make art, organized sector, and film an important part of education.
5. Training and Recruitment of Teachers: The policy provides for raising the standards of training for teachers and setting up new procedures for their recruitment.

Through the National Education Policy 2020, the Government of India is trying to bring significant changes in the field of education and enrich the future of the students. The policy aims to support a strong, holistic and inclusive higher education system at all levels.

Role of teacher in New Education Policy 2020 :

The role of teachers is important in the new education policy. The New Education Policy 2020 has given priority to several reforms in the field of education, in which care has also been taken to give an important role to teachers.

As per the new education policy, teachers are certified as dedicated, efficient and loyal individuals. Teachers are entrusted with the responsibility of playing a vital role in the all round development of the children.

As per the new policy, teachers are introduced to the latest education technologies and their applications through dedicated Teachers Training Institutes (TTIs) and distance learning to ensure relevance to education-training.

Along with this, as per the new policy, there is regular opportunity for teachers to be conducted personnel so that their professional development and health conditions can be taken care of.

Under the new education policy, the training and progress of teachers is recognized and respected. The policy has given priority to continuous professional development programs for higher secondary education, so that teachers can develop their personal and professional development.

In the new education policy, it has been considered an important part of guiding teachers to build relationships with students, identify themselves as teachers, and motivate them from time to time.

Thus, the new education policy gives an important role to teachers and considers them as an important factor in improving the field of education. The policy seeks to support teachers and encourage their professional development to help them drive positive outcomes in student life.

Student's role in New Education Policy 2020

The New Education Policy 2020 aims to create a capable and outstanding Indian citizen who can bring positive change in the society. In this new education policy, important attention has been given to the role of the student and many prestigious schemes have been included to encourage the student according to the new education system. Here the main roles of the student can be summarized :

1. Dedication : As per the new education policy, a student needs to be dedicated so that he/she can engage deeply in his/her studies and cross his/her limits.

2. Freedom : An attempt has been made in the education policy to officially dedicate freedom and autonomy to the students. This gives them the opportunity to self-control their studies and to choose a study program according to their interests and preferences.

3. Innovation : The new education policy aims to make students innovative. It is encouraged through the medium of latest teaching methods, which develop in them the ability to think through solutions to problems, invent and innovate.

4. Engineering : According to this education policy, students are encouraged to acquire engineering and technical knowledge. This gives them an opportunity to acquire the latest technical qualifications and develop their ability to innovate and use the latest technology.

5. Economic Inclusivity : Priority has been given in the education policy to promote the economic connectivity and development of proper economic efficiency of the students. It encourages students to develop business and economic skills for prosperity.

Thus, in the new education policy, various mediums are used to make the student capable, independent and innovative. They get an opportunity to enrich and develop business acumen, which can pave the way for their future success.

Role of parent in New Education Policy 2020

New Education Policy 2020 is a significant change with the Indian education system. In this policy, parents have been given an important role in the education of children. The policy is dedicated to human resource development and encourages parent participation in the education process.

Under the new education policy, the main objective is to make parents active participants in the educational perspective of the children. In accordance with this policy, parents should be actively involved in the education process to measure, understand and support their children's educational progress.

According to the new education policy, parents should be included in educational committees and schools at the local level. Also, they should be given a chance to give common consent to the educational policies and curriculum for their children.

Parents should be provided with facilities to track and assess the progress of children in the education process. To this end, parents should be empowered to receive information regarding their children's educational progress using report cards, progress indicators, and education platform information.

As per the new education policy, parents have been given an important role to understand and promote the educational culture of their children. For this, the educational institutions are called upon to collaborate with various organizations and communities to make the scholasticism of the children enriching and helpful.

From the point of view of totality, in the new education policy, important attention has been given to make parents participate in the education process. The policy endeavors to make parents an important partner in the education of their children so as to establish a dedicated, happy and prosperous education system.

Need to study the new education policy 2020

As per this policy, the use of education technology will be encouraged to help make education more interactive, interesting and effective. Along with the enhancement of academic courses, importance will also be given to the development of abilities, skills, and moral values.

Another important aspect is the international interoperability of this policy, the inauguration of which will help in giving India a significant place in the global education sector. Under this, foreign educational standards and experiences will be used for the integrated education system.

The National Education Policy 2020 provides a new direction to the education sector of India and ensures the cooperation of the Union, State and Local Governments to make the education system modern, dedicated and convenient. This policy is a significant step in reforming Indian education and is expected to provide the young generation of the country the benefits of a more prosperous, equitable and world-class education system.

Objectives of new education policy study

The National Education Policy 2020 has been adopted by the Government of India to establish an important school education system. The policy provides an organized guide for comprehensive changes in the education sector. It contains several important insights, which have had an impact on various aspects of education:

1. Priority of completion : This policy declares completion as the priority of education. Its objective is that every child gets good quality education, which can lead to their all round development.

2. Adaptability : The policy has an emphasis on promoting adaptability of education to the students. The policy supports various initiatives to ensure equal opportunities for all students, such as the Gurukul system, harmonious education, and taking care of student health and the physical environment.

3. Discipline : Special importance has been given in the policy to promote discipline in educational institutions. It is important to ensure regularity in the education process, adherence to standards for quality and personal development of students.

4. Innovation : Great importance has been given to innovation in the policy. It encourages the concept of incorporating latest education technologies and new and golden tools for different study areas in the education process.

5. Learning Education : The policy has important insights into learning education. Under this, language education is made important to make learners multilingual and they are empowered to different languages, culture and ideas.

These are some of the important insights of the National Education Policy 2020 in brief, which are important for reforming the Indian education system. The policy aims at establishing a dedicated, inclusive and quality-oriented education system that ensures equal opportunities for every child and supports their holistic development.

Methodology of study :

National Education Policy 2020 is an education policy set by the Government of India which provides new guidance to improve the education sector of the country. The research methodology for this policy is based on the following key steps :

1. Formation of theme groups : In the initial stage of research, an understanding of the main goals, objectives, and implementation of the education policy is obtained. Experts from various education fields are involved who are responsible for conducting research for this policy. In this phase, various subject groups are formed which will conduct research on specific education topics.

2. Observation : In this stage, research personnel are tasked with examining and reviewing material from various sources. Prior research, analysis, review of the latest developments in the education sector, and study of educational standards of other countries are involved in this phase.

3. Utilization of Available Resources : Research personnel are encouraged to utilize the resources available in the education sector. Various initiatives and concepts are evaluated using available evidence, data, organizations and mechanisms.

4. Collaboration with Higher Education Institutions : Research personnel also get the benefit of collaboration with higher education institutions. These institutes work closely with experts, departments and other organizations to conduct research and evaluate the impact of the policy once it is implemented.

5. Distribution of results : The results of research are shared with various parties, policy makers, organizations and academia communities. Through this, the impact of the latest research, suggestions, and policy is evaluated.

The research methodology of the National Education Policy 2020 uses various mechanisms by completing these steps and gathers the necessary information and resources for improving the education sector.

An important insight of the National Education Policy 2020

National Education Policy 2020 is an important effort to introduce significant changes in the field of education in India. This policy provides a guide towards a comprehensive change in the Indian education system. Here, we will discuss about one important insight of this policy.

An important insight of the National Education Policy 2020 is "coordinating the development of discipline and self-reliance in education". Under this insight, the policy aims at giving importance to discipline in education as one of its main objectives. The policy also inspires to establish the fundamental principles of self-reliance in education.

As per the important insight of discipline in education, the policy promotes setting of standards from general education to higher secondary education to make discipline a strong foundation in the education system. The policy focuses on values and ethics that encourage discipline and correct conduct. It plays an important role in education as well as personality development of the students.

Along with discipline, the policy also attaches importance to the development of self-reliance in education. The policy calls for the development of a high-quality education system, which not only strengthens students in knowledge, but also makes them self-reliant, along with self-confidence, creativity, critical thinking and soft skills. The policy sets out a new set of incentives for higher education institutions to promote specialization, quality and innovation in the higher education system.

Through this insight, the National Education Policy 2020 seeks to improve the standards of education and the development of students. It proposes to make the education system independent, dedicated, and voluntary so that it is not only for the acquisition of knowledge, but also for the overall development of a student. The policy aims to encourage the personality, engineering, science, and nationality of the students so that they can face the odds and face the life with self-reliance with the new thinking social, economic, and technological norms.

Thus, "coordinating the development of discipline and self-reliance in education" is an important insight of the National Education Policy 2020. This policy gives a new direction to the education system with the latest ideas, standards, and objectives and guides the students to become capable, loyal, and dedicated citizens.
